Project description

Please describe the most important aspects of your project in a concise form – also in bullet points if you wish. Please answer the guiding questions on the left.

Description of the content of your project

(max. 2000 characters)

What is your project about?

What is your story? How can your story contribute to increase students' learning success?

Target group

Who do you want to address with your project?

How many students can your project potentially reach?

Expected start of your project
Which e-learning elements, tools or apps do you plan to use for your project? Is there any additional technical equipment you will be using? (e. g. camera, VR glasses, etc.)
Didactic concept and methodological approaches (max. 1500 characters) What are the teaching and learning objectives of your project? What is the planned process of your project? How do you plan the didactic use of the e-learning elements and tools? What is the difference to (your) previous courses?

Can your project be sustainably integrated into university education?
Why should the jury support your project?

Use of the prize money

The prize money of 5,000 € is tied to the project and should be used in a timely manner.

How would you use the prize money?

What personal contribution would you bring into the project?

Note: since your project is an offer for your students, we would be happy to support the use of student assistants in your project.

Has your project already been funded?

No Yes

Additional materials

To illustrate your proposal for the student jury, the inclusion of additional materials in the following form is expressly desired:

- evaluations
- screenshots
- images and video files
- scheme / overview of the process of your project

Here you can enter your existing Moodle courses or other online offerings that clarify your project plan (with password, if necessary):

OpenRUB

OpenRUB is our platform for free teaching and learning materials at RUB. Do you plan to publish your project or single materials on OpenRUB as Open Access or Open Educational Resource (OER)?

Yes

No

We will be glad to advise you on the possibilities!

You can find further information under <https://zfw.rub.de/lehrende/lehre-gestalten/open-educational-resources/>.

In order to facilitate the decision-making process for the student jury, please use only the text fields within the form to describe the content of your project.

Please submit the completed form and the additional materials by 19.02.2024 via the moodle course „5x5000 – der E-Learning-Wettbewerb der RUB“ in the folder „Teilnahme“.

Thank you for your submission and good luck!
